8. In the case of dangerous trades -

i. Every manager shall so store his goods as to admit of free ingress and egress to the removal of the goods and for quenching a fire, if any.

ii. He shall not cause or suffer any cover made by combustible material to be erected or placed over or adjoining any such goods.

iii. He shall at all times keep the premises clean and dry to the satisfaction of the President or Vice President.

iv. He shall not allow smoking in the introduction of fire or open-light into the premises and he shall always store sufficient quantity of water to quench the fire, if any.

v. He shall carry out his trade in such a way as not to make his premises a source of danger or nuisance to the persons residing in or resorting to the neighbourhood

vi. He shall comply with any requisition from the President or Vice President contained in a notice for the total or partial removal from the premises of the aforesaid goods or the removal of any other combustible materials not intended for sale or for rectifying any error or omission in attending to the above provisions.

9. In the case of offensive trades:-

i. Every manager shall confine his trade to be carried on strictly in the place shown in the license.

ii. He shall cause all materials received for the purpose of his trade to be stored, when not required for immediate use, in such a manner as to prevent the emission of noxious or injurious fumes therefrom.

iii. He shall adopt the best practicable means of rendering innocuous all vapours emitted during the process of his trade, either by proper ventilation or other suitable means.

iv. He shall keep the floor of his premises in good order (and repair) so as to prevent the absorption of any liquid, filth or refuse or any noxious or injurious matter which may fall or be deposited upon.

v. He shall provide the premises with proper drains and shall always keep them in good order.

vi. He shall cause the premises to be cleaned at the close of every working day.

vii. He shall not allow any refuse or waste matters not intended for any further purpose of his trade which are likely to be a source of danger or nuisance to be deposited in or around the premises but shall have them removed daily to a place set apart by the President.

viii. He shall adopt such other precautions as are necessary to minimise the danger or nuisance to the public from such special use of the premises.

ix. He shall comply with any requisition of the President or Vice President contained in a notice for rectifying any error or omission in attending to the above provisions and for promoting the health of the persons employed in such trades.

10. The President shall have power to suspend or withdraw a license granted for dangerous or offensive trade whenever he deems such a course necessary in the interests of the convenience and safety of the public generally or of the persons inhabiting or resorting to the neighbourhood of the premises covered by such license or whenever the conditions of a license are not obeyed.
